

Deborah L. Ault, RN, MBA

Director of Medical Management

Deborah Ault is the Founder and President of Ault International Medical Management (AIMM), the industry's premier medical utilization management firm. AIMM is the only medical management firm to have its cost-savings results reviewed and validated by the prestigious Validation Institute.

Using evidence-based clinical practice standards, AIMM offers a complete care management package to manage employee healthcare to improve health care quality for patients so that claims costs of their self-funded health plan are well controlled. AIMM has its own team of physicians and on-site professional nurses, who ensure "best practices medicine" and respond to health-related issues.

A nationally respected expert in medical management, Ault pioneered the "proactive," "day-one, dollar-one", and "progressive patient-centric" models of medical management. She is the creator of the Patient Centric Comprehensive Care Management, or P3CM™ (patent pending), a proprietary platform for medical utilization management that uses evidence-based, best-in-class clinical criteria and standards.

A registered nurse for 30 years, Ault took her extensive nursing experience in ER, ICU, Doctor's Office, Home Health, and Telephone Triage with her into Care Management.

Her work has been published in industry publications and she is a sought-after speaker. Ault received her nursing degree from Marion Technical College, her Bachelor's in Business/Math from The Ohio State University and her MBA from Concordia.
